Michael is an Australian production designer who is resident of the U.K. and holds a British Passport. His career has spanned over 30 years producing over four hundred hours of television drama, thirty-five feature films and over one hundred television commercials. He has created looks in contemporary drama, period drama, children's television, live entertainment, action features and in some cases whole worlds of fantasy for science fiction. He has an extensive understanding of 'computer generated imagery', blue screen and 'stop motion control animation'. He has also worked in many difficult and isolated locations and has employed complete art departments from local sources.
